COAST ARTILLERY DRILL SEASON

Opens this Week, the Fifth Company Meeting Tonight at Armory-New Orders Issued Regarding Balloting-Former Chaplain Voorhees.

Scheduled to open the first of November, the drill season of the coast artillery companies in this city was delayed a week because of the evangelistic services in the armory, but commencing this week they will hold weekly drills until next summer.

Tonight the Fifth company will have its first meeting, at which there will probably be a short drill and a general discussion of matters preparatory for the season's indoor work. There are many details to get together for the proper advance of the company's efficiency as well as the social side of the organization's existence. This winter there promises to be an added interest from the fact that there will be practice once a month at least on the indoor coast artillery apparatus, part of which is here, and the remainder will soon be ready for use, each sonal transactions between officers, are prohibited."

This amendment is considered by military men as a direct outcome of the agitation after last summer's ma nocuvres which put in appearance first in local papers and also extended to magazines, for most of which mem-bers of the national guard themselves were responsible.

The same amendment also prohibits any suggestion for or influence of legislation pertaining to military matters by members of the national guard excepting through "the regular," which later are defined as "military channels"

Secrecy of Ballot Gone.

The revision of the regulations of the Connecticut national guard issued as general order No. 44 from the office of the adjutant general, have been received in this city, and no little comment has been aroused by the paragraph dealing with the election of field officers. Hereafter the secret ballot will not be used. Each officer will sign his vote, which will be forwarded to the adjutant general's office.

The situation which some time ago existed in the Second regiment is pointed out. There were three candidates for a majority, and on the first ballot the officer who later on was chosen major did not have a vote. The contest is said to have created some feeling at the time owing to the closeness of the vote. Under the revision the way an officer voted can be ascertained, it is claimed, the secrecy of the ballot being destroyed.

Bad stomachs mean bad blood; bad blood means sallow, unattractive skin. Why? The stomach in a healthy condition separates the nutritious matter from the food and gives it to the blood to supply the entire body with nourishment.

If the stomach is not in a healthy condition it does not separate from the food the nutritious matter and it passes off with the waste.

Thus the blood is impoverished and has not sufficient nourishment to supply the muscles, skin and hody generally.

WHY SHE CERTIFIED

Thin, weak or frail people—those who "take cold easily"—should be prepared with Eckman's Alterative in the house. Remarkable cures of even Tuberoulous (Consumptive) persons are often accomplished. For Bronchitis, Ashma, and Hay Fever, no more effective remedy exists.

I was troubled with Asthma and Bronchitis for seventeen years. After trying many remedies Eckmon's After-tive was recommended to me by our Parish Priest. I am now feeling fine. I cannot speak too highly of it.
